480 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Sterling silver

Length : 5,4cm

Width : 4cm

Description

These beautiful shoe buckles are made of silver and steel, featuring a stylized knot motif centered on a flower entirely set with rhinestones on cut paillon. They are unique in that they have a hinged and ratchet system to secure them in place. Their reasonable size suggests they were intended to adorn ladies' shoes. The silver is unhallmarked and has been tested with a touchstone. They have a lovely patina, with no tarnishing of the paillon. In excellent condition, with no missing pieces or damage, the stones are very sparkling; only the stones in the flower petals, positioned higher up, show slight wear. 18th century, circa 1760. Dimensions: 5.4 cm x 4 cm. Weight: 43g each
