Description

An Italian Renaissance style walnut Fratino table from the 18th century from a private house of Milan. Born in Italy during the first half of 18th century, this exquisite solid walnut table features a rectangular top, realized with a single solid walnut plank of 5 cm thickness, sitting above a later Renaissance style lyre-shape carved legs, connected through a carved crosspiece. Charming us with the refinement of its lines and great walnut patina, this Italian 18th century Fratino table will bring a touch of elegance to any home, perhaps placed in a living room, office or foyer. In good condition, with an age related wear, some restorations, see closed-up details, a beeswax polish finish that enhances walnut natural patina.
