Description

Hand-knotted Persian Kashan rug, 205 x 195 cm. Elegant rug from the 1960s. Each knot is individually visible and well-defined (a Senneh knot). The weave is not printed but composed of real vertical and horizontal threads. The design on the back is clear. The edges are perfectly symmetrical, a characteristic of handmade rugs. The central motif features a medallion and a dense field of flowers, typical of Kashan. The richly detailed borders are in traditional colors: brown, ivory, ultramarine, and gold. Material: Natural wool, cotton warp and weft.
