Description

An elegant pair of etchings and aquatints, scenes in the antique style, designed by the sculptor Jean-Guillaume Moitte (1746-1810) and engraved by Jean-François Janinet (1752-1814), one of the finest engravers of his time, both dated 1789. The engravings measure 52 x 24 cm. Executed in grisaille, they are in good condition and retain their original frames. Their subjects are: "Constance of Coriolanus" and "The Virtue of Lucretia"--Coriolanus, condemned to exile by the Tribunes, consoles his wife and mother and entrusts his two children to their care.--The sons of Turquin the Proud, believing they have caught Lucretia, wife of Collatinus.
