Description

ANTIQUE WROUGHT AND FORGED IRON CANDLESTICK, 18TH CENTURY.

MEASURES 37 x 20 cm This item is a wrought iron candle holder, an antique piece dating back to the 18th century, also known as a candlestick. Main Features Material: It is made of wrought iron, a material that was worked at high temperatures to eliminate slag, hence its name. Design: The piece features traditional craftsmanship, such as a trilobed base assembled with rivets and screws, a twisted center section, and a curved handle for carrying or hanging. Use: Similar items could be used as simple tabletop candle holders or, thanks to the upper hook, as wall sconces to illuminate domestic spaces. Style and Period: The style is rustic or Alpine, consistent with 18th-century craftsmanship.
