PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

An Architectural Fragment Of A Temple Dating From The Middle Ages

2 200 EUR

Period : Before 16th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Material : Stone

Description

Fragment of a medieval temple in reddish-brown sandstone. In the lower right, the head of an elephant, probably Ganesha, holds a lotus flower in its trunk upon which a female figure kneels in prayer, probably Parvati. In the center of the fragment, three women are depicted one above the other, and in the upper left, a male deity with a garland. In the lower left, an arm holds an attribute. The sculpture is mounted on a black steel base. Fragment of a medieval temple in reddish-brown sandstone from northern India. Height: 50.5 cm Width: 26 cm Depth: 23 cm.

Dealer

Navarro Antiques

Navarro Antiques

Mobile : 0032(0)477552226

Situé à environ 25 min de Lille (France)

Harelbeke 8530