Description

Linocut 'Soapdream' by Bernadette Vereecke This black and white linocut is a surreal composition that blends natural elements with an industrial landscape. The artwork can be divided into distinct sections: The top portion features large, prominent flowers and the flowing hair of a woman who appears to be swimming or emerging from water. Central to the image is the swimming figure surrounded by water and a large, abstract shape. Below the figure, the scene transitions to a detailed harbor landscape, complete with industrial cranes and a small rowing boat. Throughout this work there are soap bubbles of varying sizes are interspersed throughout the entire composition, floating across the different scenes and connecting the disparate elements The work is put on a cream coloured background and
