Description

A beautiful Art Deco nightlight, circa 1920-1930, composed of a hammered wrought iron base and a frosted, molded-pressed glass cabochon, signed Muller Luneville. The glass features a typically Art Deco design: geometric shapes, tiered volumes, and vertical lines evoking modern architecture. The hammered wrought iron mount, decorated with lateral scrolls, is characteristic of the work of French workshops between the two World Wars. Signature: The glass is signed Muller Luneville. Period: Art Deco, circa 1925. Condition: Very good overall condition for the metal; two very small chips in the glass (see photo). Height: 17 cm. An elegant nightlight, representative of the Art Deco aesthetic. The creations of Muller Frères Lunéville are highly sought after for the quality of their glass, their
