Description

Elegant Victorian-style smoking table dating from the early 1900s. Crafted from solid mahogany, it features a refined maple inlay running along the edge of the tabletop. The upper top is fitted with a glass surface that protects a delicate floral decorative insert typical of the period. The structure stands on gracefully curved interlaced X-shaped legs, a hallmark of late-Victorian and Edwardian design, combining charm and stability. Perfect as a living-room coffee table, decorative feature, or collectible item.
