Description

Iranian rugs from the Fars region (southwest Iran), wool, cotton warp and weft, circa 1940. Very good condition. Beautifully crafted. EUR950 per pair. In the center, four green birds surrounding roses reference the ancient Persian motif 'göl-e-bôlbül' (nightingale and rose). These are framed by eight ivory lozenges. A multitude of motifs--flowers, butterflies, botehs--are scattered across the rugs' patinated red field. 'Herati' or 'samovari' borders frame the field of these rugs, which were originally probably the fronts of a gorjin (pack sack). The Gashghai confederation comprises various tribes. Some examples: Bozorg kashkulis (the large ones), Kuchek kashkulis (the small ones), Shishbolukis (six districts), Amalehs or Yalamehs (workers, servants of the Khan). Free Chronopost delivery
