Description

Renato Parigi is an Italian sculptor born in 1939 who settled in France in 1964. Marble and granite are his preferred materials, and bronze casts of his works have been produced by foundries such as Susse, Fratelli Lucarini, and Nivet. A sculptor and painter, he has participated in numerous exhibitions and salons, including FIAC, Réalités Nouvelles, and Salon de Mai. The sculpture offered here was part of a group of works exhibited in Arcueil in 1975. The base does not appear to be identical to the one reproduced in the catalog; a restoration is visible on the upper part of the sculpture, which is worked on four sides. Base height: 10 cm
