Description

This coffee table likely dates from the 1940s or 1950s, a period when the neoclassical style experienced a resurgence in popularity in French decorative furniture. The brass base, with its curved lines and ball finials, is characteristic of post-war design, which drew inspiration from antique forms while modernizing them. The white marble top adds a touch of elegance and luxury. This type of coffee table is particularly prized by collectors of mid-century furniture and lovers of classic interior design. Its combination of fine materials and timeless design makes it a sought-after piece for elegant interiors that wish to incorporate high-quality decorative elements with historical value.
