Description

Antique Kneeler in Solid Walnut - Late 17th/18th Century
Elegant antique kneeler crafted in solid walnut, dating from the late 17th to the 18th century. The structure features harmonious lines enhanced by finely shaped side supports in scroll form, characteristic of the late Baroque style. The front panel is solid, while the top section includes a slightly protruding upper surface, suitable as a small lectern or resting area. The base consists of a kneeling platform with moulded edges, supported by solid feet that provide stability and balanced proportions. The walnut wood, warm and richly grained, retains a beautiful period patina that highlights its authenticity.
