

Small, Curved, Dauphiné-style Commode In Walnut, 18th Century

2 450 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Walnut

Length : 81 cm

Width : 49 cm

Height : 78 cm

Description

Charming small Louis XV period solid walnut commode, dating from the mid-18th century. Likely made in the Dauphiné region, as évidence by the quality of the walnut used and the construction at the back of the piece, as well as the flat sides, also known as "limandes." Please examine the photos carefully. This commode, with its light proportions, is also a versatile piece, ideal and easy to place in any type of interior thanks to its understated elegance. It has a beautiful original patina, including the original bronze knobs and keyhole escutcheons. It has been fully restored in our workshop, but to be honest, there is virtually no restoration at all! It is in pristine condition and has only undergone a preventative treatment with Xylophene and has been waxed several times to achieve a beautiful

Dealer

Antoine Claeys - Maison du XVème
antiquaire généraliste

Mobile : 06 85 53 27 42

24 grande Rue

Nogent l'Artaud 02 310

glaze. It opens with two large drawers in the front, which is slightly curved. It rests on four cabriole legs, and the top is attractively curved and molded. The legs have not The locks have been grafted! They are old, but the keys are missing. The drawers are dovetailed, and the drawer interiors are made of fir. Charming proportions, a superb patina--a very decorative little chest of drawers. Dimensions: 81 cm long x 49 cm deep x 78 cm high. We deliver and ship worldwide; please contact us for a precise quote.