Description

A beautiful, freestanding , Carrara marble bathtub, carved out of a single block. Made around the second Empire period (1804-1815). In very good original condition. It stood for many years in a chateau in the south of France. The interior has a carved sitting-step and the front is carved with two big rings. This bathtub is nicely aged by time and use and in excellent condition. It's still 'Dans son Jus' but can be cleaned and polished-if you préfer.
