

PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

Diplomatic Gift From Oman - Armed Forces Museum

350 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Parfait état

Diameter : 15 cm

Description

Exceptional diplomatic gift from the Sultanate of Oman, presented to a French national responsible for foreign affairs.

I personally know its provenance.

Gold-colored commemorative plaque offered by the Sultan's Armed Forces Museum, located in Muscat, Oman. This prestigious protocol item features a central engraving depicting the museum building--an old fortress (Bait Al Falaj Fort)--topped with the official emblem of the Omani Armed Forces: a khanjar (traditional curved dagger) set over two crossed rifles, surrounded by a laurel wreath and topped with a royal crown. Inscriptions appear in both Arabic and English.

Technical details:

Diameter: 15 cm

Dealer

Michael Delaby Antiquités

Généraliste

Mobile : 0689606010

2 avenue des coteaux

Criel-sur-Mer 76910

Material: gold-colored metal (likely brass or an alloy with a gold-finish)

Presentation: red velvet case

Languages: Arabic (سُلْطَانِ أَمْرِ قُوَّةِ مَوْجِدِ),

English ("Sultan's Armed Forces Museum")

Origin: Sultanate of Oman

Use: diplomatic gift presented to official visitors or institutional partners

Historical context:

The Sultan's Armed Forces Museum showcases the military history of Oman, from pre-Islamic times to the modern era. This type of honorific item is typically given during bilateral relations, diplomatic missions, or official visits to the Omani Armed Forces.

Condition: Excellent -- a rare object with significant symbolic value.