Description

Stunning wrought iron cage chandelier -
Mid-20th century - Acanthus leaf decoration.

Note: A small but important detail: the dimensions provided are only the chandelier's dimensions. You can easily extend it using the existing chain; you will need to add 25 cm. This splendid wrought iron cage chandelier, dating from the mid-20th century, is made of stabilized tubing and adorned with an elegant acanthus leaf design. Its patinated appearance, subtly evoking controlled oxidation, gives it a unique charm and authentic character. Fully restored and ready to install, it will find its place naturally in a refined interior, a summer terrace, a chalet, or any room requiring a strong and warm decorative touch. You also have the option of personalizing it with small colored lampshades, or in black or white
