Description

This antique marble mantel from 19th-century France is a fine example of the Louis XV style, celebrated for its flowing curves and ornate symmetry. Crafted from Breche Violetta marble -- a rare and luxurious stone known for its striking veining and soft ivory tones -- this antique chimneypiece embodies timeless elegance and artisanal craftsmanship. The fireplace's hand-carved details, gently curved jambs, and timeworn patina give it a sense of history and authenticity. Every contour bears witness to the artisan's touch, making this a truly unique antique fireplace mantel suited for refined interiors, historic restorations, or high-end design projects. The Louis XV period (1715-1774) marked a shift toward organic forms, Rococo curves, and sculptural balance. This mantel follows that tradition, with asymmetrical lines and soft carving that celebrate the beauty of nature through stone. Its Breche Violetta marble -- quarried in Italy and prized across Europe -- offers rich violet and gold veining, harmonising beautifully with both classical and contemporary interiors.<https://www.de-opkamer.com/fireplaces/antique-fireplace/antique-marble-fireplace-mantels/antique-marble-fireplace-1568>
