Description

Wall lamp model 620 designed by Alain Richard and produced by Disderot around 1970. It consists of two cylindrical spotlights in orange lacquered metal, mounted on a chromed steel bar allowing them to slide and direct the light as needed. The turned aluminum reflectors provide controlled diffusion, typical of Alain Richard's work, combining precision, simplicity, and luminous efficiency. The piece retains the clean, industrial aesthetic that characterizes the professional lighting fixtures designed by the designer in the 1960s and 70s. Manufacturer: Disderot, circa 1970.
