Description

Françoise Sagan (1935-2004), French writer. Autographed letter signed to the writer Roger Nimier. No place or date; 2 pages, octavo. A charming, humorous letter to her friend Roger Nimier: "Thank you for the card, the New Year, and the water pump. I wish you the same. Please excuse the delay with this book. Furthermore, I feel you shouldn't be making faces at me at social gatherings, given the reputation for seriousness we must maintain. See you very soon, I hope. Yours sincerely..." In 1954, the Parisian literary scene was abuzz with the arrival of a young, rebellious, and shy-eyed 19-year-old. Françoise Sagan presented Bonjour Tristesse, her very first novel, which sharply ironically depicted the foibles of the bourgeoisie of the time. It caused a huge scandal. Like Roger Nimier, an immense
