Description

Louis Nattero (1870-1915) "The White Road Along the Étang de Berre" Oil on panel, Signed lower right. This beautiful work by the Marseilles painter Louis Nattero depicts the road along the Étang de Berre, enlivened by a mother and her child, leading to Martigues. The town's church steeple is clearly visible in the background. The work is finely executed and perfectly captures the atmosphere of a summer's day in Provence, bathed in scorching light. After an unhappy childhood spent in an orphanage, he turned to painting. In 1891, he married in Toulon. At the age of 26, thanks to a scholarship from the city of Toulon, he became a student of Léon Bonnat in Paris. However, suffering from lead poisoning, he was forced to cut short his Parisian studies. He then returned to Toulon before settling
