Description

This large brooch, with its stylized, dynamic floral design typical of Art Nouveau, is entirely set with sparkling rhinestones, showing no wear or discoloration. The focal point is a large, faceted, trapezoidal crystal of a captivating emerald color depicting a bud at the end of a whiplash flower stem. To the left, three set mabé half-pearls adorn the rays of a sunburst. A smaller emerald-cut crystal of the same color completes the lower center of the motif. A retractable, hinged silver bail allows the brooch to be worn as a pendant. The tube hinge and C-shaped clasp are in perfect working order. It bears an old 925 hallmark and another partial, unidentifiable one. EXCELLENT CONDITION! Art Nouveau period, circa 1900. Dimensions: 7cm x 4.4cm.

Weight: 20g.
