

Kuba Ikul Ceremonial Sword

175 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Length : 32 cm

Width : 7 cm

Depth : 6 cm

Description

Kuba Ikul ceremonial sword This short sword is an authentic made with an iron blade and a carved wooden handle Its distinctive leaf-shaped blade with a central ridge and a wooden hilt features a large, round, pommel. Although shaped like a weapon, the ikul was actually introduced in the 17th century by King Shyaam aMbul aNgoong as a "peace knife," replacing the more dangerous throwing knives and war swords of the era It is a symbol of status, prestige, and authority, worn by every adult Kuba man on his right hip during ceremonies and as part of traditional attire 32 cm long, 7 cm wide and 6 cm deep The wood has patina and the blade is oxidated. It dates back to the early 20th century African tribal art from the Democratic Republic of Congo

Dealer

Vintitch

Modern furniture

Mobile : +32478803943

Groenstraat 29

Opwijk 1745