Description

A genre scene depicting village life with animated, moving figures. In the tradition of Romanian folklore, Miron Kiropol (1936-2020) offers, with his poetry and a certain sensitivity, a naive art full of life and humor. The work is an oil on canvas mounted on panel and sold as is: some rubbing and scratches are present.

Dimensions: 65 cm wide x 54 cm high. Miron Kiropol was born in Bucharest, Romania, in 1936. A poet and painter, Miron Kiropol was the son of Mita Stanciu, another artist represented in the Cérès Franco collection. He published *Le Jeu d'Adam*, his first collection, in 1967. *Rosarium*, his third collection, was banned by the Romanian Stalinist regime in 1969. The poet was then forced to leave his country. France granted him political asylum, allowing him to
