graceful back riser (alzatina). The riser features additional worked drawers and a recessed central compartment, ideal for displaying small objects or statuettes, adding functionality and aesthetic value. This writing table is not just a functional piece of furniture, but a true sculptural work of art, perfect for enriching classic interiors with a touch of history and luxury or for creating a focal point in more contemporary décor. It is presented in excellent conservative condition, highlighting the mastery of the cabinetmakers of the time.
