Medieval Iron Pauldron (shoulder Armor) C. 1480-1520

1 800 EUR

Period : Before 16th century
Condition : Bon état
Material : Wrought iron
Length : 30.5 x 28 cm

Description

Late Medieval Iron Spaulder (Shoulder Defence) with Brass Edge & Rotating Button, c. 1480-1520

Authentic-looking late medieval iron spaulder / shoulder defence from a harness, with brass rolled edge and an original-style rotating brass button fastener on the side (quick-release type). Hand-forged construction with period-correct wear and surface patina.
Type: Spaulder / shoulder armour plate (single piece)
Material: Hand-forged iron with brass edging and brass rivets
Fastening: Side-mounted rotating brass button
Size: approx. 30.5 cm × 28 cm
Estimated period: c. 1480-1520 (late Gothic / early Renaissance)

Dealer

Art Classique
curiosités, art premier et Asiatique
Mobile : 0032-475272534

Bilzen 3740

Probable origin: South German / Swiss tradition (attributed)
Condition: As found; surface oxidation/patina and age-related wear. No aggressive modern polishing. Please review photos carefully.