Description

ROUSSEAU Jean-Jacques (1861-1911) "View of the Thames in London, 1899" Oil on canvas, Signed, dated 1899 and located lower left, Beautiful work by the painter Jean-Jacques Rousseau which represents a view of the Thames bustling with electric factories. Ships can be seen, and in the background, the working power plants with their smoking chimneys. This work is a beautiful and rare testament to the industrial atmosphere of late 19th-century London. Another pastel view of London by the artist, dating from 1899, is also known. A student of Desportes, Lehmann, Roll, and Ribot, he exhibited at the Salon from 1878. He was vice-president of the Colonial Society of French Artists. He received medals at the Universal Exhibition in Paris in 1889 and 1900. He was made a Knight of the
