Description

Louis XV Style Chandelier in Gilt Bronze and Glass Elegant Louis XV style chandelier in finely chased bronze, richly decorated with scrolls, foliage, and rocaïlle motifs. The structure is enlivened by sinuous arms ending in frosted glass tulip shades with floral decoration, diffusing a soft and warm light. The central section is adorned with a large glass basin, held by a finely crafted bronze mount, and extends into an elegant sculpted base. The whole is suspended by a twisted central rod and a decorative crown with foliate motifs. A fine piece of work, typical of the late 19th - early 20th century, inspired by the Louis XV style. A decorative and refined chandelier, ideal for a living room, dining room, or entryway with character. Period: late 19th - early 20th century. Style: Louis XV. Materials:
