

PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

Monumental Hunting Painting "the Monarch Of The Glen" By Anton Schrödl (austrian 1823-1906)

10 000 EUR

Signature : Anton Schrödl

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Oil painting

Width : 98

Height : 115

Description

Monumental painting with Royal deer was executed by good listed Austrian landscape, hunting and animale painter Anton Schödl (1823 Schwechat - 1906 Vienna).The younger brother of the sculptor Norbert Michael Schrödl studied at the Vienna Academy of Fine Arts from 1833 to 1835 under the flower painter S. Wegmayr and initially worked as a draftsman for the lithographic art institute Trentsensky. In 1841, he achieved his first success with a hunting scene at the Academy exhibition in St. Anna. In 1850, Schrödl exhibited at the Austrian Art Association. In 1865, the animal painter and lithographer accompanied Count Wilczek on a lion hunt to Algiers. Subsequently, he assumed responsibility for the establishment of the new Vienna Zoo as well as for the fashionable private nature parks of

Dealer

Alte Kunst

Fine Arts 17th - early 20th centuries

Tel : 004315137918

Mobile : 00436642605164

Fax : 004315137918

Spiegelgasse 21

Vienna 1010

various clients (manufacturer Küffner, Count Wilczek, Baron Rothschild). His studies of nature took Schrödl to the Austrian Alps on several occasions. His private students included J. N. Geller, A. Jirasek, and G. Ranzoni. Our last photo shows a very similar painting by a famous English artist Edward Landseer "The Monarch of the glen", painted at the same time as our painting. Literature: in German: artist lexicon by Prof. H. Fuchs; Wöhler, Claudia : Kunst des 19. Jahrhunderts. Catalogue of Austrian National Gallery of 19th century, volum 4, Vienna, 2000. Inscriptions: remainder of monogram lower right; on the back of the frame - collector label with artist's name and the title. Technique: oil on canvas, magnificent gilt frame of 19th century. Measurements: unframed 27 1/8" x 37 3/4" (69 x 96 cm), framed 38 1/2" x 45 1/4" (98 x 115 cm). Condition: painting is in very good condition.