Description

This mahogany English stepped secretary desk is an elegant and functional piece of furniture. It opens with a drawer that conceals a tilting writing surface on racks, covered in genuine brown leather. The upper section of the desk has a sliding door that provides access to two drawers and eight storage racks, perfect for organizing documents or office supplies. The lower section offers a fixed shelf behind two lockable doors, providing secure storage space. Each side of the desk is adorned with a bronze handle, adding a touch of sophistication and making it easy to move. This piece of furniture is not only aesthetically pleasing but also very practical for everyday use. *****Period: Second half of the 19th century. Excellent condition. Waxed finish.
