Norman Regional Necklace In Solid Silver And Rhine Stones, 19th Century

850 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Sterling silver

Description

Superb Norman regional necklace in solid silver and rhinestones, circa mid-19th century.

Decorated with fleur-de-lis, ribboned knots, and oval motifs paved with rhinestones. The pendant section, including the Holy Spirit cross and the ribboned knot, is removable and can be worn alone. It bears the boar's head hallmark. The chain and clasp were likely added later; this type of necklace typically ended with two rings and was worn with a black fabric ribbon. It is in good overall condition, with minimal signs of wear, no damage, and no missing stones. Length: 41cm
Removable pendant length: 3.5cm Weight: 34.97g Please visit our website to see more photos:
