

Pair Of 19th-century Gaucho Spurs - Argentina / Uruguay

450 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Wrought iron

Length : 9.2 x 16 cm

Description

Rare and authentic pair of hand-forged iron spurs, attributed to the Río de la Plata region (Argentina or Uruguay), dating from the mid to late 19th century (circa 1840-1880).

These spurs feature large star-shaped rowels with long cylindrical points, a characteristic form associated with South American gaucho horsemanship. The broad U-shaped heel bands and robust construction reflect practical use on the pampas rather than decorative or ceremonial intent. Both arms are engraved with floral scroll motifs, adding a refined artisanal touch while remaining consistent with period working equipment.

Material: hand-forged iron

Origin: Argentina / Uruguay (Río de la Plata region)

Dealer

Art Classique

curiosités, art premier et Asiatique

Mobile : 0032-475272534

Bilzen 3740

Date: mid-late 19th century

Dimensions: approx. 9.2 × 16 cm

Condition: good antique condition with honest wear, surface patina, and minor irregularities consistent with age and use