Description

PAIR OF JAPANESE ARMOR GLOVES
"KOTE" Japan, Edo period (1603-1868) Iron, lacquer, horn, hemp H.: 67cm Formed on a hemp base, they are covered on the outside with chain mail and decorated with gadrooned plates and rectangular lacquered iron discs and plates. The hand protection consists of four parts: the first covers the phalanges with five rivets securing the Mon; the thumbs are in two parts with two Mon; and the first third of the hand is formed of a rectangular plate with three Mon and chain mail. The inner part is made of silk applied to hemp, with a laced gold fabric border. At the top, there is a steel plate with traces of "Kanmuri ita" lacquer, pierced with holes for the cord and olive-shaped horn buttons. Good overall condition; damage to the lacquer. Ref. LP6448
