Description

The Omega Seamaster Memomatic alarm watch, introduced in 1970, is an unprecedented technical feat: the first automatic watch equipped with a single mainspring barrel powering both the timekeeping movement and the alarm mechanism! The alarm can be set to the minute. The elegant dial features two rotating discs for setting the alarm. This model also displays the date. It has a tonneau-shaped, gold-plated case with a screw-down case back and is water-resistant to 60 meters. Diameter: 40mm. Brown leather strap, 25cm long.
