Description

An elegant small wooden jewelry cabinet, covered in embossed and gilded leather, with a repeating design covering all sides. The front opens with six drawers fitted with chased metal handles, intended for storing jewelry or small precious objects. The curved shape, the gilded decoration, and the molded base resting on small toupie feet link this piece to the decorative productions of the late 19th century, in the historicist style then in vogue. A beautiful toiletry or adornment item, both decorative and functional, representative of the refinement of late 19th-century bourgeois interiors.
