Description

Large lithographed cardboard advertising poster, a gift to schools from the renowned Parisian chocolate brand "Meunier." Various samples of cocoa varieties are enclosed in small, sealed glass bottles. These posters, intended for educational purposes, were distributed to certain schools for the education of young children, but also served as promotional material for the brand. Meunier is a French chocolate company founded in 1816 by Antoine Brutus Menier, who began manufacturing chocolate bars in 1856.

Dimensions: 61.5 x 46.5 cm. Minor damage and losses to the cardboard backing. Provenance: Saint-Jean du Gard Primary School (Gard)
