Description

Nevers Henri Signoret: Large antique-style polychrome glazed ceramic bowl with zoomorphic handles. Its ample and generous form is richly decorated with polychrome motifs inspired by the Italian Renaissance, combining elegance, whimsy, and high-quality craftsmanship. The body of the bowl is decorated with a finely painted winged griffin, rendered in a harmonious palette of ochre yellow, deep blue, green, and white against a warm background. The decoration is accentuated by broad, stylized scrolls and arabesques. The spectacular handles, forming fantastical zoomorphic creatures, lend a strong sculptural character to the whole. They are sculpted in the round, with particular attention paid to the details of the heads, wings, and textures, giving the piece a powerful and dramatic
