Description

I present to you an exceptional piece, a bronze sculpture from the early 20th century, which combines elegance and history. This work depicts a young boy embracing a goose, a subject that is both poetic and symbolic. The deep, warm brown patina of the bronze highlights the delicate details of the sculpture, such as the goose's feathers and the fine features of the child's face. The sculpture rests on a marble slab, which adds a touch of refinement and stability to the whole. A remarkable detail: the bronze bears the signature "Musée du Louvre," suggesting a connection with one of the world's most prestigious art institutions. This inscription gives the piece undeniable historical and cultural value. Measuring 38 cm high, 30 cm wide, and 24 cm deep, this sculpture is ideal for adorning a study, library, or living room. It will integrate perfectly into a classic or contemporary interior, bringing a touch of artistry and sophistication. This piece is a testament to the craftsmanship of the artisans of that era. It is perfect for art collectors or those who appreciate unique pieces steeped in history. Don't miss the opportunity to add this sculpture to your collection or interior décor. I would just like to point out a slight lack of patina on the boy's head due to routine cleaning, but this creates a lovely blond highlight in his hair.
