Description

Walnut Dressing Table with Lift-Top, 19th Century. This elegant 19th-century dressing table is crafted from solid walnut and walnut veneer with a beautiful grain. The front features a clean and balanced design, typical of French furniture from the Louis-Philippe period. The lift-top opens to reveal a functional interior with an integrated mirror and a clear surface for use as a washstand. This type of furniture was traditionally used in bedrooms or dressing rooms before the widespread adoption of modern bathrooms. The lower section has four drawers in the front, mounted in solid wood, with their original keyhole escutcheons. The cabinet boasts fine craftsmanship, harmonious proportions, and a warm walnut patina. This piece is as decorative as it is practical, making it equally at home in a
