Description

A charming Louis XV style commode with a bombé front. The front features two drawers with concealed support rails, adorned with marquetry depicting figures playing blind man's bluff in a park against a satinwood background arranged in a frieze pattern within a frame. Against this background, a rich, three-sided mount of finely chased bronze stands out. This asymmetrical rocaille bronze mount consists of large, polylobed scrolls decorated with flowing foliage, extending from the commode to form the drawer pulls. Each edge is embellished with bronze drops featuring foliate motifs. The feet are adorned with bronze sabots. The whole is topped with a breccia marble slab from Aleppo. Oak lining. A fine Parisian piece. Circa 1930. * Worldwide shipping * * PAYMENT/BANK TRANSFER * * Payment by
