Description

An antique Renaissance-style chest in richly carved solid walnut, dating from the 19th century, featuring a beautifully crafted architectural façade with a striking decorative impact. The façade is punctuated by two panels carved in relief, adorned with large foliate rosettes centered by an oval medallion, framed by finely worked scrolls. In the center, an architectural niche houses a sculpted figure in the round, depicting a draped figure, rendered with a fine sense of detail and movement, resting on a pedestal decorated with foliage. The whole is framed by massive twisted columns, typical of Renaissance-inspired furniture, lending the piece a monumental and solemn presence. The molded top and the base, highlighted by carved friezes, harmoniously complete the composition. The wood displays a
