Description

Attributed to Jean-Pierre Ryckaert: A designer floor lamp with a sculptural presence and a restrained architectural design, resting on a rectangular wooden base framed in metal, ensuring stability and character. The patinated iron vertical structure features clean, balanced lines, punctuated by small decorative metal collars. The solid wood intermediate shelf adds a warm and functional touch, while enhancing the overall elegance. The stem is topped with an antique socket holder, ready to accommodate a lampshade or glass shade, depending on the desired use. This floor lamp is distinguished by its refined, utilitarian aesthetic, typical of early 20th-century production, blending industrial spirit with Arts & Crafts influence. Ideal for a characterful interior, a library, a living room, or a
