Description

Oil on canvas signed Alfred Andrieux (1879-1945), a naturalist painter of the early 20th century known for his ornithological compositions and hunting scenes. The painting depicts a perched Eurasian eagle-owl. It is signed in the lower right corner. This canvas is in very good condition. There are a few very small areas of repainting around the edges (particularly in the sky), likely due to traces of a previous frame. A protective strip has been applied to the frame. Shipping cost for metropolitan France is EUR30; please contact us for other destinations.
