Description

A champagne bucket, or something similar... One and a half times larger than a standard one! Made of blown, bubbled crystal... With hot-applied handles... In perfect condition, except for a few minor scratches on the bottom... Certainly from the Biot glassworks... In any case, of French origin... It can easily hold two standard champagne bottles or a jeroboam... Or, used as a vase, it would be very chic! Weight: approximately 4 kilos
