Description

Memoirs of the Marquis de Langallery, Lieutenant-General of the Armies of France, and General-Field Marshal-Lieutenant in the service of Emperor Charles VI. An interesting history, containing a great number of anecdotes concerning Madame de Maintenon, Madame de Catinat, Madame de Vendôme, Victor Amadeus, Duke of Savoy, later King of Sardinia, Prince Eugene, Augustus I, King of Poland, the Ottoman Porte, and many other little-known figures; written by himself in his prison in Vienna, Austria. At The Hague, at Daniel Aillaud's, Bookseller in the Great Hall of the Court. 1743. A fine copy with a two-color title page for this marvelous military narrative.
