Description

A set of two antique 19th-century tobacco pouches, decorated with original hand-painted designs typical of folk art. The portraits depict a woman in bourgeois or regional dress. The paintwork is of good quality, with natural crackling. The two lids of the double-sided tobacco pouches feature a woman in costume holding a rifle - a powerful figure - and a slightly melancholic, romantic woman. Dimensions: 14 x 7.5 x 1 cm. The two lids of the double-sided pouches each measure 12 x 7 cm.
