Description

Important Louis XVI Style Chandelier - Napoleon III Period. This important chandelier, crafted from finely chased and gilded bronze, is in the Louis XVI style and dates from the Napoleon III period. The elegant structure is suspended by rods adorned with garlands, foliage, and ribbon bows, characteristic of the Louis XVI decorative repertoire revived during the Second Empire. The chandelier is centered by a pressed and frosted glass bowl, decorated with a circular band embellished with a decorative textile element. It is complemented by frosted glass tulip shades shaped like flowers, diffusing a soft and harmonious light. The piece displays a high quality of workmanship, a warm gilding, and a balanced silhouette, ideal for a classic, Haussmannian, or prestigious interior. Period:
