Description

A beautiful emotion emanates from this 1930s oil on canvas, depicting two workers busy at a lathe. The painting is signed F. Saint Pasty, but the signature is difficult to identify with certainty. It was painted with a palette knife, resulting in a slightly textured surface. The quality is evident; the work is powerful. The painting has been cleaned and is in good overall condition. We note some typical wear to the frame and minor paint loss at the bottom right of the painting (see photo). Please carefully examine the photos for a complete description of the condition. The photos are an integral part of the description.
