An elegant Art Deco ring in 18k yellow gold, with an 18k white gold setting, representative of the geometric refinement of the years 1925-1935. The center features six old-cut round diamonds arranged in a rectangular pattern, each diamond estimated at approximately 0.25 carats (measured with a gauge without removing the setting), for a total estimated weight of approximately 1.50 carats.

The central design is surrounded by calibrated sapphires, highlighting the graphic aesthetic typical of the Art Deco period.

The shoulders are adorned with rose-cut diamonds, adding finesse and elegance to this refined composition.

Period: Art Deco (circa 1925-1935)

Metals: 18k yellow gold, 18k white gold (setting)
