The enterprise was founded in 1839 by landowner A. M. Miklashevsky on his estate. The factory produced porcelain tableware and other porcelain items (porcelain frames for mirrors, candlesticks, small sculptures), and the workers were serfs. The first samples of the products were awarded a large silver medal at the 1839 Industrial Exhibition in St. Petersburg. At the 1851 exhibition in the town of Krolevets, samples of polychrome painting on porcelain were presented. In 1857, the Pokrovskaya Church
